

VATSIM's new Pilot and Controller Dictionary

You may have used our previous version, which has seen better days and will be retired now. The document that you are reading now is based on the original dictionary of VACC-SAG (now VACC Germany/VATSIM Germany), but it has undergone major overhaul. We have added a few more phrases and we also got a few more languages onboard! To accomplish this we needed the help of our wonderful colleagues and friends around the VATSIM-world, who reacted promptly. That is VATSIM's community at its best!

We hope that you will find this dictionary useful and if you find gross errors, please let us know with the e-mail address provided below.

Here are some more facts about this document:

- 25 languages: Arabic, Czech, Danish, Dutch, Finnish, French, German, Greek, Hebrew, Hungarian, Indian, Italian, Japanese, Mandarin, Norwegian, Polish, Portuguese, Romanian, Russian, Serbo-Croatian, Slovak, Slovenian, Spanish, Swedish, Turkish
- The header of each table lets you know about the name of the language and about the countries where it is used normally
- The table itself includes certain phrases, how it is written in the respective language and how it is pronounced (based on English pronunciation)
- At the bottom of each table you will also find a selection of ATC-stations and airports where you can use these phrases in local language

Please take note of the fact that these tables have been created by members of VATSIM and that the tables may not be perfect. We all did our best and if you spot an obvious mistake that really needs correction, then let us know. If you have a language that you think should really be added, e-mail us, too!

feedback@vatsim-germany.org

Once again I would like to thank our friends around the world for their outstanding help and dedication!
